3 WOMEN MEET DEATH FOR PLOT TO ASSASSINATE

Alleged to Have Been Employed as Spies for Pancho Villa in Mexico.

Landit Leader Resumes Attack Upon Chihuahua Early Today is Report.

General Trevino Still Holds City and Rebels Said to be Retreating Southward.

FIELD HEADQUARTERS PUNITIVE EXPEDITION IN MEXICO, Nov. 23.—(Via radio to Columbus, N. M., Nov. 24.)—Three women, two sisters and their servant girl, were executed yesterday at El Valle by the Carranza garrison.

The official charge was conspiracy to assassinate Colonel Gonzales Diaz, commander of the El Valle garrison. The actual crime, however, was treachery to the Carranza government which had employed them as spies. They "double-crossed" the Carranzistas and sold themselves to Pancho Villa.

EL PASO, Texas, Nov. 24.—Undaunted by his repulse in yesterday's fighting, Pancho Villa resumed his attack on Chihuahua City early this morning, according to advices received at Juarez.

Reports on the progress of the battle are conflicting. Though Carranza officials reported Villa completely defeated at the outskirts, refugees arriving here at 2:30 a. m. declared a bloody hand to hand struggle was going on in the city streets yesterday afternoon.

Both Villa and General Trevino, commanding the Carranza garrison are reported wounded.

The refugees reported that Villa attacked with 3,000 men, leading his bandit forces into battle with his old-time recklessness and disregard for his own life. Trevino had only 2,000 men defending the Carranza stronghold at the beginning of the fighting, refugees asserted. Carranza officials at Juarez insisted, however, that Trevino had more than twice that number of men under his command.

Villa flung his men against Trevino's entrenchments and fought his way into the city a few hours after the battle started, these refugees reported. Both sides suffered heavily in the early fighting, they said. They declared that General Murguia, who was expected to attack Villa from the rear with 2,000 men, is 100 miles south of Chihuahua City and that in all probability the city will be in Villa's hands long before Murguia arrives.

Carranza's headquarters at Juarez today reiterated the statements given out last night that Villa had been defeated with heavy loss and was being driven southward.

Despite the stories rought by refugees, General Trevino was still holding Chihuahua City this morning and telegraphic communications with Juarez had not been interrupted. Consul Eduardo Soriano Bravo today gave out this bulletin from Trevino:

"At 9 o'clock last night the Villistas were retreating in disorder eight miles south of the city, pursued by General Ozuina's cavalry. Danger of another attack has passed. General Trevino is suffering a slight scalp wound."

The message made no mention of another attack on Chihuahua City, reported in unofficial despatches.

$67,500 ROBBERY ADMITTED

Brothers Confess Stealing Mrs. E. H. Harriman's Jewels.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Full confessions have been made by Orville and Arthur P. Daggett, brothers, that they stole $67,500 worth of jewels from Mrs. E. H. Harriman, according to the New York police. All of the gems taken with the exception of a platinum chain and diamonds valued at $10,000 have now been recovered. The $40,000 ruby, forming part of the original pendant, was found, the police declare, in the pocket of an old pair of trousers in the room of Arthur Daggett.

Police say the recovery of the jewels was the immediate outcome of the confession obtained from the Daggetts. The whereabouts of the still missing platinum chain they are known to them. The police also know where the jewels were taken from the Daggett family. The Daggett family is known to them. The Daggett family is known to them.

DERAIL IS CAUSE OF WRECK ON PENNSY

Engineer and Fireman Have Miraculous Escape From Death in Smashed Cab.

Blizzard is Believed Cause of Engineer's Failure to See Signal Against Him.

The engine crew of the fast passenger train No. 136 had a miraculous escape from injury this morning about 5:20 o'clock, when the train struck the derail at Forest and was thrown into the ditch. The engine was the only part of the train to be overturned. Several passengers suffered slight bruises but no injuries of serious nature were reported. Because of the blizzard which was raging at that time it is believed that the engineer mistook the block signal for a sign signifying a clear track.

The train was in charge of C. C. Maines, conductor, and Engineer H. E. Wagner was in charge of the engine. The train arrived in Lima at 4:20 o'clock this morning. The train which is scheduled as a Chicago-Pittsburgh flyer, carried three sleepers, two day coaches, a combination car and one mail car.

According to the engineer, the one and two mile signals west of the intersection of the Big Four and Pennsy tracks at Forest signified that a clear track lay ahead. Since this was the first time in a good while that the block was set against traffic on the Pennsy it is believed that the engineer mistook the block signal. It is said that it is the custom for the man in charge of the tower to give the train a clear track, but owing to some switching operations on the Big Four the latter road had the clear track.

It was only by an act of providence that the fireman and engineer escaped from the wreck with their lives. The former succeeded in getting out of the cab before the engine started on its wild flight along the right-of-way, but the engineer was found at his usual position unscathed, when a search was instituted through the cab of the overturned engine for his body.

The engine traveled about 200 feet along the track and through a deep ditch at the side of the road before it came to a stop squarely against the side of the Forest hotel with just enough force for the cab of the engine to break in the door of the hostelry. All units of the train but the last three cars were thrown from the track.

According to a story told by one passenger on the train who at the time of the accident was asleep in his berth, he was awakened by the "boom" of the train when the engine left the tracks but went to sleep again and knew nothing of the wreck until awakened by a rescue party searching for injured.

HOMER SMITH INJURED AT OHIO STEEL FOUNDRY

Homer Smith, residing at 126 West First street, had his right leg broken last night while employed at the Ohio Steel foundry. A crane loaded with steel was upset and a piece of steel casting fell upon the limb. The Williams and Davis ambulance removed him to the City hospital.

THIRTY INJURED IN "L" CRASH

Car on Brink of Toppling Into the Street Below.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Between 25 and 30 persons were injured today when a heavily laden southbound elevated train jammed into a switch at 123rd street and Second avenue, near the Harlem river bridge. One car left the tracks, and only the stanchions of the bridge prevented it from toppling to the street below. The injured were rushed to hospitals where it was said several were seriously hurt.

WEST RUMANIA IS NOW HELD BY GERMAN FORCES

Capture of Orsova and Turnu-Severin Crushing Blow to Entente Allies.

Russians in Dobrudja Are Flung Back by Von Mackensen's Victorious Army

British Hospital Ship Braemar Castle Sunk in Aegean Sea; No Lives Were Lost.

BERLIN, (via Sarville) Nov. 24.—Orsova and Turnu Severin had been captured from the Rumanians by General Von Falkenhayn's Austro-German army, the war office announced today.

All Rumanian resistance in the western part of the Rumanian Kingdom has been smashed.

The capture of Orsova and Turnu Severin is a crushing blow to the Rumanians. The number of prisoners taken by the Germans is believed to be large.

In Dobrudja the Russians have been flung back by Field Marshal Von Mackensen's army.

Orsova and Turnu Severin both lie on the Danube and jointly they control the iron gate as the Danube is known at the point where it bends sharply where the borders of Hungary, Serbia and Rumania touch.

Orsova is in Hungary and Turnu Severin is in Rumania. Both are also important from a military sense because they are upon the main line railroad that runs westward from Bucharest into Austria-Hungary.

Orsova was taken by the Rumanians when they invaded Transylvania and was strongly fortified. Its doom was sealed when Von Falkenhayn's army captured Craiova.

The text of the war office report dealing with Rumanian operations follows:

"Army group of Archduke Josef. In the Wallachian Plain the troops of General Von Falkenhayn's infantry are approaching the Alt. In the western part of Rumania all hostile resistance has been broken. Orsova and Turnu Severin have been captured.

"Army group of Field Marshal Von Mackensen. On the right wing of our front in Dobrudja Russian forces have been thrown back from the forefield of our position by the advance of Bulgarian troops. At other places our troops are in touch with the enemy and there is fighting. Engagements are occurring on the Danube."

LONDON, Nov. 24.—The British hospital ship Braemar Castle has been sunk by a mine or torpedo in the Aegean sea.

She was the second British hospital ship to be sunk in the Aegean this week, the Britannic having been destroyed on Tuesday.

Official announcement of the loss of the Braemar Castle was made today.

No lives were lost. The Braemar Castle was on her way from Malta to Salonika when she was sunk in the Mykonos channel of the Aegean.

"All on board the vessel are safe," says the admiralty statement. The Braemar Castle was owned by the Union Castle line but had been taken over by the British government for war service. She displaced 6,318 tons.

GER. TAKE RUMANIA'S GRAIN. Ferdinand's Kingdom is Circled by Ring of Battles.

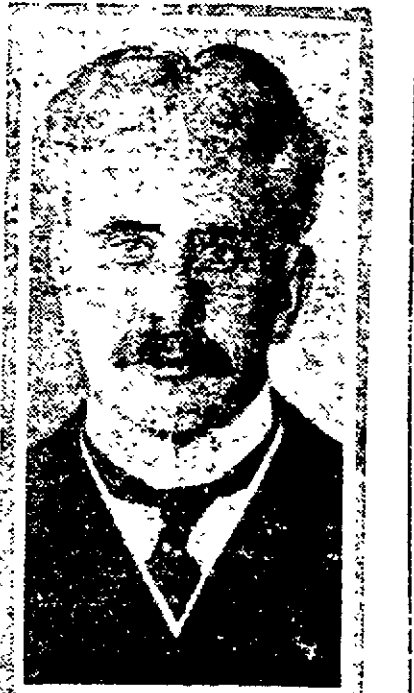

BERLIN, Nov. 24.—One-fifth of Rumania is now held by the German allies. Great stores of grain and other supplies captured by the Germans in Western Rumania when Craiova fell are being sent back to Germany and Austria. The arrival of Russian reinforcements on the Transylvania front has given fresh impetus to the fighting in that zone.

The entire kingdom is surrounded by a ring of battles. In the Carpathians and in the Transylvanian Alps, Von Falkenhayn's veterans are withstanding furious assaults by the Russians and Rumanians.

On the Wallachian Plain the Austro-German forces are extending their gains. The German allies drive eastward from Craiova are meeting with stern resistance for the Rumanians have massed heavy forces for the protection of Bucharest on its western side.

All along the Danube and in Dobrudja there are alternate artillery duels and infantry actions.

PLEDGES CANADA TO FIGHT TO BITTER END

PREMIER BORDEN

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Canada is fully prepared and quite determined to fight to the end, and will not consent to a cessation of hostilities until victory has been achieved, which will make a repetition of present conditions in Europe impossible. This is the statement of Sir Robert L. Borden, Premier of Canada, made at a dinner of the Canadian Club of New York.

Premier Borden said that Canada had sacrificed too much, had gone through too much, and believed too fervently in the principles of humanity and civilization to consent to a truce that would only mean a breathing space in which to prepare for a continuance of the conflict.

OHIO'S POPULATION GROWS

Will Reach 5,181,220 in 1917, Says Census Bureau.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—January 1, 1917, the population of Ohio will be 5,181,220, according to the estimate made by the Bureau of the Census, on a basis of the normal growth of the state in past years and the actual census figures of 4,767,121 in 1910.

WILLYS-OVERLAND MAGNATE INSURES LIFE FOR $1,800,000.

TOLEDO, Nov. 24.—Harry T. Dumm, president Fisk Rubber company and vice president Willys-Overland company, insures his life for $1,800,000.

IRISH PRELATE, FORECASTS BRITISH FIGHT TO FINISH

The New York Times today, printed the following message from Lord Northcliffe, noted British editor.

"The suggestion that Great Britain should consider peace can only be regarded as hostile. Our citizen army is only now ready for war."

"There are no peace discussions in this country at all and there will be none while Germany occupies any portion of the allied territory."

(From London today, through its exclusive news sources, the International News Service received the following statement on the war written by Father Bernard Vaughan, perhaps the most famous Roman Catholic prelate in England. Father Vaughan is known as one of the greatest preachers of the day, and has perhaps done more to stir the public pulse in the island empire than any other man. His views on the war situation may be taken as typical of a great mass of the British intellectuals.)

(By Father Bernard Vaughan.) (Copyrighted, 1916, by International News Service.)

It seems to me that England has passed through three stages in her appreciation of the real meaning of this slaughter of the human race, emphatically called warfare.

In its first stage she felt she was fighting for her national interests, the highest of which was her national honor—her pledged word to recognize and maintain the integrity, autonomy and independence of Belgium.

Then it came down upon England that the fight was not merely for national existence itself. She began to realize that the aggressive and arrogant foe with whom she had come to grips was scheming and campaigning, not only to storm Paris and capture Petrograd, but to invade England and raid London.

England was to be the Kaiser's coaling station.

Finally England began to wake up to the real inner meaning and significance of the life-and-death struggle, to which she had committed herself and her people.

I think I may say that all of us, without exception of rank, creed or politics, have had at least to face the awful reality that England's sword has been drawn, not to defend national claims only, but international rights also.

In other words, the allies, from Petrograd to Rome, and from Rome to Paris, and from Paris to London, are linked together, resolved never to sheathe sword, or silence guns, or cry, "hold, enough!" till they are in a position, not only to come to terms with the enemy, but, on the contrary, to dictate their own terms to him.

You cannot make terms with an enemy who has no respect for his own word of honor; you cannot come to terms with him when he makes it his proud boast that for him "might is right," and that warfare, when it suits him, is a "biological necessity" and "the religion of valor."

With an enemy, such as we are fighting, we must impose conditions of peace, which shall secure to Europe and to Christian civilization the right to live long years of peace and prosperity, without the everlasting menace of invasion by an enemy who claims it to be his divine mission to make his own what belongs to another, leaving "rightfulness" as a trademark of his bloody business, no matter where he has planted his iron heel.

Our splendidly equipped and indomitable British army is winning from all the world the encomiums it has so deservedly merited and we may rest assured that these brave and daring fellows will not return from the firing line till they have achieved what they had set out to do—to defeat the enemy so certainly, securely and completely that even he shall be compelled to acknowledge, with hands up, that he has been beaten along the fighting line and is prepared to accept whatever terms of peace may be offered him.

Unless the allies are resolved to fight on till victory is theirs, it were better they had never fought at all.

Peace short of a fight to the finish would mean an armed truce till the enemy was prepared once more to shout:

"World conquest or death."

God avert such a catastrophe to Europe again!

SCORES SCOUR CITY FOR BOLD BANDITS

Two Men Bind Express Messenger Securing $15,000 and Make Get-a-way.

Posses Pursue Three Hold-up Men Who Shot Woman and a Policeman.

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—Spurred on by rewards of $1,000, scores of detectives and policemen are combing the city for two men who last night bound and gagged W. E. Cater, express messenger, on a Chicago and Northwestern train, robbed him of $15,000 and escaped.

The robbery, which occurred within the city limits, was withheld by the railroad authorities for several hours, but early today they admitted that the loot consisted of cash and negotiable papers which the train regularly brings to Chicago banks from country institutions, and some jewelry.

The bandits evidently were familiar with the train's schedule. It starts at Elroy, Wis., and between Barrington and Clybourn Junction, the outskirts of Chicago, it makes no stops. This gave the robbers 50 minutes in which to work. The pair boarded the train at Barrington, held up Cater as he was starting to work and quickly tied him up. Then they opened the safe with his keys, ripped open the express packages in it, took what they wanted and dropped off the train when it slowed up at Clybourn Junction.

Cater had just freed himself from his bonds when the conductor entered the car as the train left the junction.

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—Three hold-up men, believed to have been surrounded in woods near the Desplantes river, following the shooting of a woman and a policeman in Maywood had escaped when the encircling posses searched the woods early today.

The victims of the robbers' bullets are in serious condition. Mrs. Rosie Hersberg, wife of the town butcher was shot through the abdomen when she entered the shop while her husband was being held up. Policeman Charles Ritt was shot in the leg and arm in a duel with the robbers, whom he overtook near the river and called upon them to halt.

ONE DEAD IN $100,000 FIRE

Pennsy Train Cuts Hose and Catches Plant Burns.

CANTON, O., Nov. 24.—One man is dead, another is seriously hurt and damage estimated at $100,000 was caused by a fire which totally destroyed the plant of the Zahner Metal Sash and Door company on Navarre road, S.W., early Friday morning. Four hundred men were thrown out of work.

Fanned by the high wind which swept the city, the flames gained large headway when a Pennsylvania flyer, according to firemen, ran past signal lights and cut two lines of hose laid across the tracks. Six firemen had a narrow escape from death when the ladder truck beat a Pennsylvania passenger train across the McKinley avenue crossing by the narrow margin of three feet.

MAXIM, INVENTOR OF MACHINE GUN DIES

American, Born in Maine, Lives in Europe Years, Expires in London, Eng.

Begins His Life Without Schooling and Works in Paint Shop as a Boy.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—Sir Hiram Maxim, famous American inventor, died here today aged 76. He was the inventor of the automatic machine gun, smokeless powder and the Maxim silencer. Sir Hiram was born in Bangorville, Maine, but lived in Europe for many years.

Sir Hiram was essentially a self-made man. He received little schooling and when still young was put to work in a paint shop. Later he went to Fitchburg, Mass., where a uncle had an engineering plant. There his natural mechanical bent had a chance to expand itself and he began his career as an inventor.

One of Sir Hiram's first inventions was an automatic machine for making carburetted air for light houses.

In 1851 Sir Hiram was made a Chevalier of the Legion of Honor at the Paris electrical exposition for his machine to keep currents constant in a system of incandescent lighting, the first device of the sort.

In 1853 Sir Hiram went to London and shortly afterward produced the automatic machine gun, a weapon that has revolutionized warfare. Six years later he became a naturalized British citizen.

Sir Hiram is a brother of Hudson Maxim.

LOCAL MEN ARE HELD ON RIOTING CHARGES

Three Men Arrested Yesterday on Indictments Returned by Grand Jury.

2 Held on Similar Charges Released on Bond; Date of Saxby Trial is Set.

Terry McIntyre, plumber, of 121 East Market street, Harold Swaney, time-keeper, of 310 West Market street, and H. H. Hollenbacher, repairman, of 122 Haller street, were arrested yesterday afternoon by Sheriff Sherman E. Eley, on an indictment returned by the September grand jury, charging attack on an officer with intent to lynch a prisoner. The men each furnished bond in the sum of $500.

Trials of Fred Yost and S. N. James, indicted on a like charge and arrested some time ago, but who are now out on $500 bond, will be held on December 11 and 18. Change of venue has not yet been asked by Prosecutor Barr for the Saxby, but he may decide to do so.

C. L. Fess has been appointed by the court to defend James. When the trial of Thomas Patton is called in court, Kiles and Garling will defend him.

Re-trial of George Saxby, set for December 4, will be held in Ottawa, by way of change of venue. Judge Klinger yesterday granted the motion of Prosecutor O. O. Barr to change the trial to Ottawa.

Trials of Gilbert Fox and Agnes Denamore, to be held in Ottawa, beginning Monday.

HUNTER LOSES RIGHT EYE BUT GETS A LIVE HERON.

LAKE RONKONKOMA, N. Y., Nov. 24.—Though his right eye was pecked out in the battle, Fred Hotman, 15, captured a live heron, carried it home and put it in a cage. He is proud of his act and doesn't regret the loss of a mere eye.

EMPLOYEES IN PLANT HAVE CLOSE CALL

Blaze at Lima Mattress Factory Does $6,000 Damage at 8:30 This Morning.

Automatic Fire Sprinklers Assist in Checking Fierce Flames in Cotton Room.

Greatest Damage to Concern is Caused by Water Used in the Conflict.

In a fire that resulted in $6,000 damage to the Lima Mattress factory this morning, Assistant Chief Clem Eyster was overcome by smoke and removed in an unconscious condition to the city hospital. Although at first his condition was regarded as very serious by physicians in charge of the case, he recovered consciousness about noon and is thought to be out of danger.

When the alarm was sent in at Central fire station at 8:30 this morning, more than 100 employees, mostly girls, were busy engaged in their work. The blaze started in one of the cotton picking machines as a result of friction and soon spread to the piles of cotton and excelsior in this department.

When the firemen arrived on the scene the entire room was a mass of flames. The automatic fire sprinklers in this department immediately started to throw water on the blaze when the temperature of the room reached a certain point and assisted the firemen materially in extinguishing the blaze.

Otto Sulik, central station fireman, was carried out of the building in an unconscious condition, but revived just as he was being placed in Whitley's ambulance. Although still somewhat ill from the effect of the fumes he was able to return to duty this afternoon. Several other members of the department were nearly overcome in the dense smoke of the room but after getting air were able to resume their work.

Max Bernstein, owner of the factory stated that work in the factory would be resumed within the next three days. Much of the damage resulting was caused by water. The basement of the building in which is stored excelsior and cotton, was submerged in water. Several expensive electric motors stored in this part of the building will be useless because of the contact with water.

A number of wild rumors were circulated through the city shortly after the fire was reported. One was to the effect that 12 girls were burned to death. Another was to the effect that an unidentified man had been suffocated while fighting the fire, but escaped without his identity becoming known.

A stream of water was piled on the fire with telling effect when the firemen arrived and soon the blaze was under control. Owing to the large amount of inflammable material in the room it was necessary for the firemen to remove the debris from the structure.

The blaze was confined entirely to the first and second stories of the old building in the rear of the fireproof structure that stands on Main street. Although the cotton picking machines and other machinery in the room were somewhat injured by water, it is not believed that they are beyond repair. At noon all of the firemen engaged in fighting the flames were guests of Max Bernstein at one of the local restaurants for dinner.

ARCHBOLD IS UNDER THE KNIFE

Is Operated Upon for Appendicitis at His Home.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—John D. Archbold, president of the Standard Oil company, New Jersey, was operated upon for appendicitis at his home in Tarrytown last night.

News of the operation was given out at the offices of the Standard Oil company today.

Mr. Archbold passed a comfortable night and his condition is reassuring. The attack on the oil magnate's health was sudden. He was at his office during the early part of the week and apparently was in normal health. That he had been stricken as known only to his friends.

Mr. Archbold has played an important part in the building up of the gigantic oil industry controlled by the Standard. Breaking away from home at the age of 16 with only $100 in his pocket he has created for himself one of the greatest fortunes in America.

AMATEUR ATHLETIC UNION IS TO BE ORGANIZED

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Indications point to the organization of a new association in the Amateur Athletic Union which will include the cities of Pittsburgh and Buffalo and possibly also Cleveland and Cincinnati. This re-alignment was suggested in part at the annual convention by Judge Bartow S. Weeks in his report as chairman of the legislation committee, and it came up for more or less general discussion.

when the internal row that almost split the Middle Atlantic States association last winter was aired. As it now exists, the Middle Atlantic States association comprises New Jersey, south of Trenton, Delaware, Pennsylvania and several counties in Ohio and West Virginia. Geographically the association has been divided by the Allegheny mountains and with little in common the eastern and western halves of the district have pulled away from each other.

The fight was carried to the national meeting and it was suggested that the only way out of the difficulty was to appoint a committee to probe the entire controversy. It was then that it was pointed out that the best way out perhaps would be to make a new district and the committee was empowered to make that recommendation, if it saw fit. This new association will come into existence probably before the beginning of the active outdoor season of 1917.

STAYS UNWED 37 YEARS TO GAIN $100,000
VANDALIA, Ill., Nov. 24.—For 37 years Grant Fletcher remained unmarried in the expectation that he would inherit the $100,000 estate of his uncle, Granville Fletcher, when the latter died. Now he has come into the court to fight for his claim. Granville Fletcher, former member of the Illinois legislature, was a confirmed woman hater. Jilted in his youth, he lived alone until 37 years ago, when he took his nephew, then 11, to live with him in "Bachelor Hall," his home, near St. Elmo. When Grant—cook, farmhand and housekeeper—began to "keep company" with girls, his uncle did not like it. He took the lad aside, told him his story and promised to make him sole heir if he would eschew the women thereafter. Grant promised and he kept his word. Thereafter, as time passed, Bachelor Hall became occupied by two women haters instead of one. Then Granville Fletcher died. Other relatives sought to gain possession of the property. Whether they will be successful will be decided by Judge Wright at the February term of circuit court.

THE CORN BOYS

The announcement that Dewey Haines of Arcadia, a boy of 19, has for the third straight time captured the state championship in the corn growing contest calls attention to the work that this feature of the state agricultural department is doing to develop scientific farming among the boys and girls of Ohio. "Fifty busels better than their dads," is the characterization of Vance C. McCormick, before the latter left Harrisburg to run a campaign for the presidency. But the stimulus for the work, aside from the interest the children may have on their own accord, is the trip to the east, offered as a reward for the victor.

If there is anything which the average youth of today sincerely craves it is travel. Geography has been made a far more interesting study since the inception of the European war, and a map now means more to the young. And with that awakening comes the instinctive desire to "see the country." The see-America-first idea boosted by the railroad companies has not been without its effect in stimulating educational efforts in travel.

Life on a farm is longed for by the city denizen who tires of cramped quarters and canned goods and smoky air, but the boy in the country, it seems, does not always enjoy his situation the year around. He reads the papers which come out along the rural route and they serve by mentioning places he has never seen nor understood, to rouse the wanderlust which marks every individual at a certain period of youth. So when an offer of a trip to the capital, the metropolises and other points of interest is offered, it is natural that the farmer boy should go after the corn crop as never before.

This institution has done a great deal to show the older heads what can be done with an acre, and the effect on agriculture has been beneficial. But it has done vastly more in an educational way for the farmer boys, as travel is the greatest teacher aside from experience and sorrow. The value of such a system is best proved by the fact that companies have been organized to push the same sort of work.

HE LIVED TO SEE

While it is just and proper that public sympathy should be expressed at the death of the aged Franz-Josef of the dual monarchy of Austria-Hungary, there is in the career of the dead monarch a lesson which rulers of nations should note with unusual attention. No member of the house of Hapsburg, through its six centuries of turmoil, in both the Spanish and Austrian dynasties, has had greater sorrows, more misfortunes and less actual achievement to his credit than the emperor whose remains now lie in state at Vienna.

Early in life Franz-Josef adopted a course which he has pursued for more than six decades. Flung just to the winds, he assumed an aggressive spirit which aimed at the extension of the monarchy by oppression of the weaker states in the Balkans and along the Adriatic. The result was that he sowed the wind and reaped the whirlwind.

Resorting to the mailed fist, instead of to a more fair and high-minded course, the emperor made enemies in every quarter. His nation was never united—it was merely Austro-mixed. Incompatible elements were forced together by annexation or conquest to such a degree that there are now in the dual monarchy more than twenty distinct races or nationalities, ranging from the German Bohemians and the Polish and the Lithuanians of the North to the Mohammedan elements which inhabit the sections nearest Albania and Dalmatia. Discontent enabled the Magyars of Hungary to obtain the balance of power and the discord of the past twenty years has been the result.

Austria has stagnated as a great world power. Science and the arts, once flourishing interests in Vienna have seen the laurels transferred to Germany, Italy and France. Music is no longer more developed along the Danube than the Rhine or the Thames or the Seine, while the architecture and sculpture of two decades ago bow to the superior art of more progressive nations. Popular feeling has come to be sullen rather than enthusiastic.

After a long series of aggressions, ending with the annexation of the protected principalities of Bosnia and Herzegovina, over which Austria had promised faithful and paternalistic care, the hour struck for a revolt in the Balkans. The worm was due to turn. The First Balkan War of 1912 gave the opportunity to the mountain nations to unite, and the concerted effort to expel the Turk from Europe brought Serbia, Rumania, Bulgaria and Montenegro together for the first time with Greece at the head. But as soon as the force of theultan were driven across the Bosphorus the allies began to quarrel over the distribution of spoils. Another war found them united against Bulgaria. Russia took a hand in the proceedings, but meanwhile Franz-Josef was grabbing a slice of Albanian territory.

The ultimatum of July 23, 1914, one of the most outrageous and at the same time unfortunate documents in history, touched off the powder. The emperor saw what his course had brought. His long series of transgressions had ended as history always ends oppression. Half of the world divided into two armed camps, and Austria has twice seen Galicia and Bukovina under the foot of the Russian bear. National prestige is gone from the empire, for it is now little more than a vassal of Germany. German soldiers and German leaders have won the only victories credited to the land. Alone she is helpless, and only by turning her primitive armies over to the kaiser has Austria-Hungary been able to do anything. The Germans have saved her too often to be denied the credit for all that has been done by the Central Powers.

And Franz-Josef lived to see it. It would have been a queer turn of fate if he had not. Perhaps, if death had removed him before the fall of Przemysl, he might have had the foresight to exclaim, as Louis XIV., "after us, the deluge!"

HUGHES YIELDS

It is not surprising that Mr. Hughes should have waited until the completion of the official count in California to wire his successful opponent his congratulations. No real jurist will pass judgment without hearing all of the testimony, and while the recent campaign convinced many Americans that the New Yorker was devoid of what is commonly styled a judicial temperament, the traits of a judge, more in evidence after he had closed his argument as the attorney for his party, cropped out in his delay over the concession.

But the facts in this case have led many to believe that the refusal to yield without official figures was inspired by a grudge, or at the most a taint of what is commonly called "bullheadedness." In justice to him, the judicial temperament might be offered as an excuse, but when every one of his advisers save Willcox urged concession, the action of Mr. Hughes appears rather obstinate. The leading organs of his party conceded the election of the president, Perkins and Wickersham and the rest were next. The state chairman of the Golden Gate G. O. P. did the same. Finally the official count showed beyond a doubt that there was no hope for the former justice, but only the statement of the secretary of state of California brought a telegram of congratulations.

But there is nothing left of the 1916 campaign. The nation can now turn to the natural activities of its residents, relaxing after a strain of months. And for the stakeholders of election bets the interest will cease to accumulate. Someone, at least, has profited by the delay.

GOD EVENING Turkey is up, too.

SEARCHLIGHT MILK MADE FROM BEANS

The threatened shortage of milk, but not look so serious if the "Chimex" method of making bean milk were established in this country. The beans are soaked for sometime and then bottled ready for use. This product looks like fresh milk and has a decidedly pleasant taste. Chemical analysis shows its percentage of fat to be equal to good cow's milk. In a tin it is produced at low cost, fifty cents a month will buy a pint a day. A small yellow bean is used for this purpose. Experiments looking towards their introduction into this country have already been begun by the department of agriculture.

Dorothy Dix Tells How The Blushing Maiden Should Propose

By DOROTHY DIX.

I HAVE received the following letter:

"Dear Dorothy Dix: We are a club of ten bachelor girls who have determined to take advantage of the last lap of leap year to pop the question. How shall we do it? How shall we go about asking a man for his heart and hand in marriage?"

"MODERN MAIDS."

If I'm! This is a difficult question to answer. There is a complete chronicle of how to lead a man up to the proposing point that has been passed down orally, generation after generation, from mother to daughter, but no code of procedure has been formulated for the woman who means to propose herself.

Of course it's going to be a ticklish job any way that it is done, because men are no more accustomed to receiving offers of marriage than women are to making them. Both parties are inexperienced. Even the man doesn't know how he will take it, and there are conservative individuals who prophesy that men will be so shocked by the procedure that they will say "No" as with one voice.

Choose The Psychological Moment.

When He is in a Melting Mood.

But this waits to be proven. Past experience has not shown that men are averse to the admiration of the fair sex nor that they turn a deaf ear to woman's avowals of her deathless affection for them. Startling as the initiation of a marriage proposal from a woman may be, the chances are that man will first endure, then pity and embrace.

My first suggestion to the leap year girl is to propose in that way which will be sure to cause the psychological place and moment in which to do the deed. There are times when a man is rushed, or tired or hungry, when it is simply courting disaster to ask him anything, and when he would refuse a free passport to Heaven if it were tendered him on a silver salver.

Therefore hide your time and also wait until you catch your man in a melting and optimistic mood. Men and women differ in their attitude toward matrimony. When a woman is happy she doesn't line toward the holy estate. It is when she is weary and discouraged and wants some man's shoulder to weep upon that she yearns for a wedding ring, and will marry almost any man who asks her.

Don't Propose by Letter or in Business Hours; He is Too Busy Then.

Men, on the contrary, think of a wife as an adjunct of prosperity, and it is seldom that they make love except when they are affluent. A woman should be proposed to when she is down on her luck; a man when he is pushing his luck.

It will be a temptation to the leap year girl to propose by letter. This will be a fatal mistake, because, in the first place, her billetdoux will reach the man with his business letters, and thus pass over to the cold consideration of his stenographer.

Secondly, no American man is sentimental in business hours, and during that sacred period of the day no woman may hope to compete in heart interest with the price of stocks, or wheat, or canned goods.

Thirdly, the long-distance proposal, whether made by man or woman, seldom hits the bulls-eye. It lacks the magnetism of personal appeal, of trembling hands and anxious eyes and quivering lips. Also it is easier to write "No" than it is to say it, and the woman who wants a husband instead of somebody to be a brother to her will have to face the music and make her proposal viva voce.

Different men, different manners. With the bashful man the proposal must be quick and sudden. It won't do to lead up to the question poetically and romantically, for that would give him a chance to run.

It won't do to gaze wistfully into his eyes, for that would embarrass him into fits, or to assume a tender attitude, for that would make him feel like a fool. And so, your only chance is to come right out and take the question and take the chances on his being too frightened to refuse.

Then there is the blundering, blind-as-a-bat man, who lets a woman go on loving him and embroidering his shippers and agreeing with everything he says for years without perceiving there is anything serious in her attentions. There is no way to wake up these Rip Van Winkles except by firing off a red-hot proposal right under their noses.

Ask for an Option on His Love, and Then Work for a Steady Job.

Propose to a business man in a business way. Ask for a thirty days' option on his affections. Then put in your time by showing him what a good thing you are. Convince him you can strengthen the arm by the care you will take of him and the comforts by which you will surround him in a happy little home.

Point out to him the risks he runs from the deadly danger of landladies: the losses he sustains from suffering landresses and bellboys, and if you are a sufficiently good jollier to make him believe that two can live as cheaply as one, your suit will be successful.

In case a man says "No" and advises you to go on and marry some nobler and surer man than he, your cue will be to weep. Many women marry men because they are sorry for them. Millions of men marry women because they haven't the nerve to see them cry.

Generally speaking, no man can see a woman weep for him unmoved. It shows so much good taste and sensibility in her that it goes to his heart.

He never blames her or thinks her silly. Poor little thing! How could she help it? And so no matter how much a woman may be shocked at the idea of a woman proposing, he will find extenuating circumstances for her popping the question to him.

The Wood Pulp Industry

There will be, we believe, a growing demand among conservative investors for securities based on the wood-pulp industry. Its growth during the past 20 years has been an amazing record of almost uninterrupted prosperity. The more experienced manufacturers have before them, in our opinion, a very prosperous future.

Canada is the natural home of the industry, and that is why its splendid profits are so little known in the United States. Canada's preoccupation with war loans, however, has brought a few of these securities within reach of American investors on very favorable terms.

We are offering the 7% preferred stock of one of the most progressive wood-pulp manufacturers in Canada, and by special arrangement the dividends are not subject to deductions for Ohio Taxes. Prices, detailed information and financial statement on request.

BOSTON WOMEN START CAMPAIGN AGAINST RATS

Posters Telling All About
Rodents and Their Crimes Against Mankind Used.

Pests of Household Are Being Pursued Relentlessly
All Over the Country.

By Frederic J. Haskin.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 24.—The women's municipal league of Boston recently started a campaign for the extermination of rats in that city. Posters setting forth the peculiarities of the rat, together with a long list of his crimes against man, were placed throughout every district; the children were set to work hunting rat holes and the men to distributing poison, while the women hovered nervously in the background and gave directions from automatic pamphlets. Since then, thousands of rats have been destroyed, but the women have not relaxed their vigilance. Swatting the rat has become a permanent occupation in Boston.

New women's clubs all over the country have taken up the campaign, and the rat is being pursued relentlessly from one stronghold to another. Prizes are awarded in many towns to the person with the greatest number of dead rats to his credit, and in several cities rat days have been established when the whole community mobilizes for a wholesale rat slaughter. "We are going to awaken this town to the danger of the rat menace as it has never been awakened before," wrote the secretary of a southwestern woman's club recently to the women's league in Boston, "and would appreciate the use of your posters."

The city of New Orleans has for some time been one of the most active in the country in the war on rats; New Orleans is still killing them at the rate of 8,000 a day.

It is estimated that rats cost the United States $12,000,000 annually. They destroy our crops, steal our poultry, infest our warehouses, and tunnel under the foundation of our cities, protected by our carelessness and multiplying in incalculable numbers. The possible increase of a pair of rats in five years is over 940,000,000,000.

In addition to destroying property, the rat is guilty of a much worse evil—the spread of loathsome diseases such as trichinosis and bubonic plague. To the average person, bubonic plague is associated with the middle ages or some period equally remote, but to the officers stationed at United States ports it is a very real and ever-present menace. Cases are constantly being reported in Ceylon, China, Ecuador, Egypt, India, Java, South Africa and a few European ports.

One rat authority also accuses the rodent of the spread of typhoid fever, malarial fevers, diphtheria and other diseases that may be conveyed from drains; for the rat is an enthusiastic admirer of drains where traffic is uncongested and the rats may be as disgusted progress is safe. The recent contention that the rat may be to blame for the epidemic of infantile paralysis occurring during the past summer has not been established, but in view of his known character and habits, the suggestion is well within the bounds of possibility.

What is needed in combating the rat is concerted action. There are three things that the rat must have in order to live and propagate his species, and they are food, water and a nesting place. Fortunately for him, these have always been forthcoming. People leave their food scattered about in various accessible places, they place their garbage where the rat can get at it; they drop their lunches around office buildings, and they proceed to build up outdoor piles of rubbish, wood piles and plank walks by the thousands that afford admirable nesting facilities. Now, if in addition to setting traps and distributing poison, everybody would stop supporting rats, their numbers could be effectively reduced.

As for annihilating the species completely, it seems to be out of the question. Perhaps, if every community and farm and hamlet in the United States joined the campaign against rodents and acted simultaneously it might be done, but, of course this would be impracticable and even so the rat authorities are doubtful. The rat is an intelligent and resourceful animal. He usually knows a trap when he sees it, and seems to have a mysterious way of imparting his knowledge to future generations; furthermore, you can rarely fool a rat colony the second time on poison. If some of their true die from eating a certain kind of cheese or lard, the rest of the members stay carefully away from it. While the rat is usually a cannibal, eating the weaker, or maimed of his species at every opportunity, he will not touch a poisoned rat. And, what is more, if the trapping and poisoning occur too persistently he deours his young and helpless offspring as a matter of convenience and departs for the next nearest shelter, often to some nearby town.

Many accounts are given by naturalists who have observed whole colonies of rats traveling swiftly by night, crossing roads and ditches and rivers—anything that came to their way—until they reached a place that appeared to be satisfactory. Then, they would suddenly disappear and be seen only in the distance and at long intervals scurrying over the fields or gnawing at a pile of rubbish. It is also asserted by many authorities that by some subtle instinct the rat is made aware of coming events and always migrates in large numbers before an earthquake or a flood. On one of these nocturnal flights the brown rat, which is the principal rodent villain, is supposed to have crossed from Asia into Europe, bringing the plague with him. Here he encountered the smaller and less voracious black rat, destroying it and usurping its province, while some of his multitudinous offspring continued to migrate in the holds of vessels to America.

Throughout the ages, various measures have been taken to get rid of the brown rat, but nothing has ever proved permanently efficacious. In the first place, man made his first mistake in killing off the enemies of the rat such as mink, weasels, hawks, skunks and especially owls. The cat is generally too well fed to be dangerous to resourceful rats. Occasionally, a lean cat may be found which preys effectively upon rats, but the modern cat as a rule is too well fed to work for a living. Snakes make excellent rat catch-

David E. Lantz, who is the rat expert of the biological survey, "the improved modern traps with a wire fadd released by a baited trigger and driven by a coiled spring" are the best type of rat trap in use. With these a department store in Washington caught 136 rats during the first 20 nights they were set. For bait, small pieces of sausage and bacon were used, but other excellent baits are grain, oatmeal, toasted cheese, bread, fish, raw meat, pine nuts, apples, carrots and sunflower, squash or pumpkin seeds. Broken fresh eggs will also attract the animals, and fresh vegetables are especially tempting to them during the winter.

Poison, of course, offers the simplest solution in getting rid of rodent pests, but the rats have a bad habit of dying wherever it is most convenient, which makes the method impracticable for occupied houses. Outdoors, however, and in barns, sheds and stables, etc., poison may be used with no disastrous results other than the death of an occasional valuable animal of some sort which has eaten the rat poison.

Barium carbonate, strychnine, arsenic and phosphorus are all excellent rat poisons when cleverly hidden in attractive bait, but owing to the inflammable nature of phosphorus the biological survey does not recommend its use. Arsenic is often related by rats and must be used in large quantities, and strychnine is too rapid in action to make it practicable for home use. On the whole, barium carbonate is the best poison. It has no taste or smell, and in the small quantities fed to rats has little effect on domestic animals, while its slow action usually permits the rat to leave the house in search of water before death overtakes him.

There are many ways of getting rid of rats if one is clever in baiting and trapping. The rat used to be a much-needed scavenger before the sanitation era, but this usefulness has long been a thing of the past. Yet the rat population of the United States is as large as the human population, and the women's clubs of the nation are compelled to work hard in order to arouse their communities to the ever-present rat menace.

AND STATE MEANS MORE FREEDOM FOR INDIANS

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 24.—To, the poor Indian, may now visit the big cities and towns in Colorado without feeling that Uncle Sam is worried about the trip. Prohibition has brought about a change in the attitude of the red man's guardian.

Formerly the federal authorities discovered that to bring Indian witnesses to Denver or Pueblo or Grand Junction to testify to illegal liquor sales on or near their reservations always created additional cases, due to the inability of bartenders to distinguish between a Mexican and an Indian.

Last year Federal District Judge Lewis moved the entire court to Cortez, many miles from a railroad and temptation, and the Indian lost his view of city life.

A dozen red men have just been brought to Denver to testify about "selling liquor to the Indian wards" of the United States.

Times-Democrat want ads always bring quick results.

PERSONAL CHAT AND CLUB GOSSIP

MARIE N. NAGEL, Editor

The man who is successful in business is the man who can get people to do as much as they can do and a great deal more than they think they can do.

—Gerald Stanley Lee: Crowds.

Mrs. W. A. Campbell opened the recital of the Woman's Music club yesterday afternoon at the Market Street Presbyterian church with a report on the musical department of the convention of the Ohio Federation of clubs held at Dayton. In her report she told of the most interesting talk given by Dr. Ernest Kunwald, of Cincinnati. She also spoke of the standard to which the Music club of Lima must live as it is the second largest club in the state.

Mrs. W. L. Mackenzie, president of the club, gave a short talk immediately after Mrs. Campbell in which she thanked all the members for their attendance, which was large yesterday.

The program which was one of carefully selected pieces of Grieg, opened with an organ piece, "To Spring," played by Miss Bonnie Lynn. The following is the remainder of the program, which was indeed one of the best yet given:

Quartet: "Spring, Lovely Spring"
Miss Blanche Pincio, Mrs. Melvin Light, Miss Kathryn Wyro, Mrs. Charles Black, Miss Millie Sonntag.

Violin Duet: "Peer Gynt Suite"
a Also's Death
b Amor's Dance
c In the Hall of the Mountain King

Miss Marcella Pfum, Miss Ruth Yost

Soprano:—
a From Monte Pincio
b Good Morning
Mrs. Emma Roebuck Krieff

Trio:—
a In Rose Time
b In the Boat
Miss Vera Neely, Miss Minnie Sonntag, Miss Millie Sonntag

Piano:—
a Poetic Tone Pictures No. 6
b A Ride at Night
Miss Esther Lynch

Contralto:—
a Love
b The Tryst
Mrs. Foster Robinson

Solo and Chorus:—
"At the Coister Gate"
Mrs. Edna Roebuck Krieff, Miss Bertha Falk, Miss Helen Spanagle, Mrs. William Pleben, Miss Minnie Sonntag, Miss Millie Sonntag, Mrs. Roy Bunt, Mrs. Charles Black, Mrs. R. D. Abbie, Mrs. Foster Robinson.

Mrs. Ed. Holman entertained the members of the Home Acre Stitches club at her home yesterday at an all-day meeting. The time was spent in knitting a comforter, the proceeds of which will go toward Christmas philanthropic work. At noon a delicious dinner was served. Guests included Mrs. James Meeker, Mrs. Anna Meeker, Mrs. Ed. Meeker, Mrs. B. T. Bowman, Mrs. Alvin Feltz, Mrs. S. S. Trussell, Mrs. Oliver Earnest, Mrs. Warren Jones, Mrs. Odessa Beall and Miss Mary Heiser. The club will meet again in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Oliver Earnest.

Mrs. Fred Beam entertained yesterday afternoon at her home with guests. Thirty-five guests were present, and the prize for high score was won by Mrs. Francis Downing. Yellow chrysanthemums gave the predominating note to the decorations which were yellow and at 5 o'clock by the hostess who was assisted by Mrs. Oliver Steiner, Mrs. Crops, Mrs. Clinton Seitz, Mrs. Howard Pears and Mrs. Frank Steiner. Mrs. Beam will entertain again this afternoon with bridge.

Miss Anna Marie Phalen, who will become the bride of Mr. William Rex, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rex, of East High street, next Tuesday morning, was complimented by her friends with a shower last evening at the home of Mrs. James Phalen, of East Vine street. Guests included Mrs. Coe Reppert, Misses Annie Hoyt, Grace White, Clara White, Nora Jones, Theresa Lillard, Margaret Quilan, Marie Phalen, Nellie Miss Marie Kellmeier of Denver, Col., who has been the guest for the past two weeks of relatives in this city, left yesterday for Wapakoneta, where she will spend several days as the guest of Mrs. G. L. Patterson.

Mrs. C. C. Kitts, Miss Elizabeth Werner and Mrs. J. F. Krieff of Delphos, attended the recital of the Woman's Music club yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Rice have as their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Rice of Delphos.

Members of the Jay Dee club entertained their husbands at a progressive dinner Wednesday evening, held at the homes of the members, the first course starting with Mrs. Nathan Coon. Mrs. Rex Manard assisted by Mrs. D. B. Stewart and Mrs. William Hosheim, the third course with Mrs. Charles Barr, fourth with Mrs. Clinton Leoy, and the fifth with Mrs. J. D. Jenkins. A new course, present were Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Coon, Mr. and Mrs. Hosheim, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Maynard, Mr. and Mrs. Zeltz Redford, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Watts, Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Daily Fashion Hint

By La Raconteuse.

Lovely shoulder scarfs for evening wear developed in net either in light or dark tones are used extensively this season. Usually a rich and dainty design is worked in gold or silver, sometimes forming a border or as in many instances making an "end design." Illustrated is a black net scarf richly embroidered in silver and rose, this harmonizing beautifully with the rose soiree silk dance frock.

Ladden, Rose Lillard, Gertrude Lillard, Emma Mossgrove, Margaret Mossgrove, Frances Schrock, Alice Schrock and Mrs. J. C. Furrey.

Mrs. C. H. Clarke entertained the members of the West End Bridge club yesterday afternoon. After luncheon which was served at 1 o'clock four tables were filled for play. A color scheme of pink and white was carried out in roses and candies. Mrs. C. F. Lufkin and Mrs. John Galvin won the prizes. Guests other than the club members included Mrs. John Galvin, Mrs. Warren McLaughlin, Mrs. Dwight Bayly and Mrs. E. A. Williams.

Despite the inclement weather all members of the Hawthorne club met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. T. O. Ackerman on Prospect avenue. A paper on Home Economics was read by Mrs. Ackerman and later discussed by the club in general. Mrs. R. R. Cotner and Mrs. William Shook won the prizes of a contest. Guests other than the club members were Mrs. William Shook and Mrs. Frank Voelter. Mrs. Voelter and Mrs. Cotner assisted the hostess in serving team at 5 o'clock. Mrs. Nettie Buehler will entertain the club in two weeks at her home on West Elm street.

Mrs. Max Falk, Sr., entertained the members of the C. D. S. club at her home on East Circular street yesterday afternoon. Each was the afternoon's diversion and prizes were won by Mrs. McGarvey, Mrs. Eilerman, Mrs. Cardosi, Mrs. Langgan and Mrs. Lear. Guests for the afternoon included Mrs. Lear, Mrs. McGarvey, Mrs. Malloy and Mrs. M. H. Lynch. The club will meet again in two weeks with Mrs. Jandeleit.

Miss Margaret Jacobs has as her house guest, Miss Elizabeth McGaw of Portland, Oregon.

Mrs. Mary Weber was the guest Thursday of friends and relatives in St. Marys.

The LEISER Co.

MUSICAL OPERETTA MEETS WITH FAVOR

Last Times Today at Faurot of Screen Star Mabel Talliaferro in 'Dawn of Love'.

Two Performances of 'Fair and Warmer', Season's Best Farce at the Faurot.

Limaites must have caught a glimpse of some of the pretty girls in the musical operetta, "Maid of the Movies" in "All at Sea" which is billed as the headliner at the Orpheum the last half of this week, for they played to a full house last night. It is a comedy on the high seas and the principals are well-cast. Merle Bryden plays the part of newspaper writer conducting seven girls, who won prizes in a movie contest, to Europe and opposite her is Billy Du Val in the role of Frances X. Cushman, a movie star, who is overwhelmed with proposals from feminine admirers, and is traveling to Europe under the non-de-plume of Mr. Knickerbocker, the ice-man. It has a chorus of good singers and some unusual scenery effects.

Baby Helen, the foremost juvenile on the vaudeville stage is a youngster who charmed everyone with her singing. She is also a monologist and her imitation of a Swiss yodler was fine. Bud and Nellie Heim, also juvenile comedians, kept the audience in an uproar most of the time and Bud's songs made a hit.

The military travesty, "The Two Battlers" presented by Bannon and Carr, has been seen here several times before but it was well played and the Irish comedian was a scream. Loree Zenaro in an artistic novelty was very graceful and seemed to do almost impossible things. A Pathe comedy "Jailed" concluded the bill.

THE FAUROT'S PICTURES.

The Faurot has a very pleasing feature in "The Dawn of Love," a Metro photoplay starring Mabel Talliaferro. Miss Talliaferro's artistic methods and personal charm are prime factors in the success of the picture, although the story, which was written by Channing Pollock and Renold Wolf, is one of unusual interest. The scenes are laid along the Maine coast and are fine examples of photographic art, the background of rugged rock and rolling ocean being skillfully utilized. Miss Talliaferro acts the fisher girl with grace and charm and is given capable support by the cast selected. The feature is accompanied by a bright little comedy, "The Future Man," in which Ralph Herz is clever and funny, and new Paramount Pictographs. Last times tonight.

FAUROT—"FAIR AND WARMER"
"Fair and Warmer," the Avery Hopwood farce with which Selwyn & Company made the outstanding hit of last season in New York, and which they will present to local playgoers at the Faurot on Saturday afternoon and night, has a most uncommon distinction. During the year of its run at the Eltinge theater, it was advertised only by its audiences. The billboards which were allotted to it were used by other plays, and the theatrical printing ordered for it waited in the store rooms. "Fair and Warmer" sold out on its second night at the Eltinge theater. Every night thereafter was sold out from one to twenty days ahead, and advertising was needless. It was not until Selwyn & Company placed this merriest of farces on tour that they began to advertise, and then only to advise the persons who were looking out for it, the date of its arrival. Selwyn & Company are sending it here with an ideal cast of farceurs. Seats are now selling for both performances.

AT ROYAL TODAY!

In spite of the inclement weather yesterday, Maccabees and their friends turned out in force to see the benefit performance given at the Royal yesterday and which will be repeated at the Royal again today. The presentation of the Mutual Masterpiece starring Winifred Greenwood in the five-reeler "A Woman's Daring" was one of the best ever screened. She wins your sympathy from the beginning and one becomes interested in her welfare because of her struggle against heavy odds to overcome a misfortune of her girlhood. And not until the last few feet are run does one learn whether or not she will emerge from the struggle victorious, but of course she does; and that is just what the audience wants. The comedy is of the pleasing kind, so patrons and those desiring to assist the Lady Maccabees' cause should not fail to attend today.

At Dreamland is another of the famous three-reel Selig detective stories entitled "In the House of the Chief" and featuring Ed Hesserer and Charles. This is another story of the many contrivances set to catch crafty criminals and the underworld trickeries and risks. The story throughout is very thrilling and should satisfy those looking for plenty of excitement. The Vm comedy taken part in by Richard Travers is entitled "In the Ranks" and will no doubt amuse fun-lovers.

STRAID TODAY.

At the Strand today for the last time will be shown the great White Slave expose picture entitled "Trapped in the Great Metropolis," and which is creating further investigation in the east. This is a story which reveals to parents as well as unsuspecting girls the apparent in-

COUSIN OF KING GEORGE WEDS DAUGHTER OF GRAND DUKE

PRINCESS OF BATTENBERG

LONDON, Nov. 20.—King George and Queen Mary and many other royalty witnessed the double marriage of Prince George of Battenberg, a cousin of King George and the countess Nadejda Torby, daughter of the Russian Grand Duke Michael Michaelovitch and his morganatic wife, Countess Torby. The preliminary ceremony took place in the Russian embassy, where the rites of the Greek church were complied with. The second service took place in the Chapel Royal at St. James' palace.

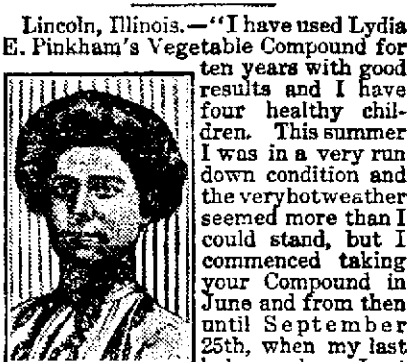

The bridegroom, a nephew of Princess Henry of Battenberg, is 24 years old and a lieutenant in the British navy, serving on the battle cruiser New Zealand. The bride, 20 years old, and her father, who is a cousin of the czar of Russia, have lived in England for many years.

Among the royalty who witnessed the ceremonies were the Duke and Duchess of Connaught, Princess Patricia of Connaught, the Princess Royal, Princess Victoria, Princess Christian, Princess Louise (Duchess of Argyll), Princess Henry of Battenberg, Princess Maud, ex-Queen of Portugal, her son, ex-King Emanuel of Portugal, his wife, "Queen" Augusta, Victoria and the Grand Duchess George of Russia.

MOTHER OF FOUR CHILDREN

How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Kept Her Well and Strong.

Lincoln, Illinois.—"I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for ten years with good results and I have four healthy children. This summer I was in a very run down condition and the very hot weather seemed more than I could stand, but I commenced taking your Compound in June and from then until September 25th, when my last child was born, I got much better than I had before. My baby was a girl and weighed 14 pounds at birth, and I recovered very rapidly which I am sure was due to your medicine. I am well and strong now, nurse my baby and do all my work. I had the same good results with your medicine when needed before my other children came and they are all healthy. My mother has taken your medicine with equal satisfaction. She had her last child when nearly 44 years old and feels confident she never would have carried him through without your help, as her health was very poor."—Mrs. T. F. Cloyd, 1355 North Gulick Ave., Decatur, Ill.

Expectant mothers should profit by Mrs. Cloyd's experience, and trust to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Free confidential advice had by addressing Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

300,000 French Children Whose Fathers Have Fallen in Battle Call for Help.

Smoking Habit Scored at National Convention of the Temperance Women.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 24.—Three hundred thousand French children whose fathers have fallen in battle need aid, Mrs. Lella M. Sewall told the convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union here.

She proposed the union try to supplement the ten cents a day which the French government allows each child for support by another ten cents.

This cry of the children should perhaps be heard above all others by the women of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, she said.

Speaking on advertising method in the Union's work, Mrs. C. P. Lindsay of Albany, N. Y., referred to the and police assistance. The crowds braved the weather yesterday to see this and no doubt the Strand will be packed again today with those wishing to see this production; for this will be the last day of showing.

alarming increase of cigar smoking among women. She said:

"The disgusting, demoralizing habit of smoking, the almost universal catarrh among men as a result, the violation of health laws which cause the innocent to suffer, the selfishness, and the awful waste of habit, the immoral influence of the cigarette, and its first cousins, dope in many guises, the growing habit of cigar smoking among women, all this and more can be told on the poster boards carried by the silent sandwich man in opposition to the advertisements of tobacco."

A pensive, little long-eared burro will patiently carry on his plump sides, poster boards containing the most up-to-date, scientific facts and statistics regarding alcohol, and all the literature an attendant can distribute, advertising the best thing the world knows anything about—a clean life."

Mrs. Martha M. Allen, of Forest Hills Garden, N. Y., told the meeting that physicians in increasing numbers are going on record against the use of alcohol. She said:

"Several county medical societies in Michigan recently passed resolutions against alcohol. Detroit physicians voted in favor of going on record against alcohol and for prohibition with a vote of 134 to 31. The state medical society of Alabama passed resolutions against alcohol this year."

"New York City and Chicago are learning much about alcohol from the good physicians in charge of the health departments of those cities. The literature of these boards of health is as strongly opposed to alcohol and patent medicines of the 'base' sort as any published by the W. C. T. U."

"The leaders in nurses' organizations have all aligned themselves on the non-alcoholic side, giving space to this topic in their journals and passing resolutions against alcohol."

"The Wine of Cardui sold this year against the Medical association brought out important testimony against alcohol from acknowledged medical leaders."

"A hard blow was struck at Old Alcohol this year in the report of the investigations of Benedict and Dodge of the Nutrition Laboratory at Boston. This report shows that in all the experiments made by these careful scientists alcohol proved to be depressant or paralyzant, never a stimulant. At a meeting of the Academy of Medicine of New York City when Dr. Benedict gave an account of his investigations, only one physician raised his voice in defense of alcohol and that was a man over 50 years old."

"The W. C. T. U. is not inclined to rejoice over divorce cases but the official divorce this year of the Medical Profession from the liquor traffic as registered in the published new edition of the U. S. Pharmacopoeia is matter for fervent thanks and rejoicing."

"Research foundation has been established at Hartford under the supervision of Dr. T. D. Crothers to study the alcohol question in all its scientific phases."

"This department sent out this year a printed letter to thousands of physicians asking as to the present use of alcoholic liquors in medical practice. A large number of answers were received all showing a great decrease in the belief in alcohol as useful in illness."

"Reports from the prohibition states say that few physicians in those states are advising alcoholic liquors as medicine. The superintendent of Kansas says that physicians in that state would be offended if she were even to ask them if they advise alcohol."

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—Jimmy Murray outpointed Johnny Keyes in 10 rounds.

BRITISHER IS WINNER IN FAST TEN-ROUND BOUT

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 24.—Ted Lewis, of England, outpointed Johnny Griffiths, of Akron, in a ten-round bout before a big crowd at Gray's Armory last night. Lewis' attack was furious during the first six rounds. With the opening of the seventh round Griffiths got his left jab into smooth working order, stepped beyond Lewis' swings and got in some good blows.

A Just Debt

I pay a debt. I owe my savings account just as I do my grocer.

I've solved the problem of having a surplus, not because I get a large salary, but because I have made a habit of saving just as I do of eating or sleeping, so I feel confident over my future.

Barring accidents I will be independent within a few years and I am happy as I go along.

The man who said this now has a large savings account.

BODY OF EMPEROR RESTING IN STATE

All Vienna in Mourning for Dead Monarch Whose Remains Rest at Palace.

Ceremonies Attending First Public Appearance of the New Ruler Very Quiet.

VIENNA, Nov. 24.—The body of Francis Joseph lies tonight in the simply and stately furnished chamber in the east wing of the Schoenbrunn Castle, which had long been the sleeping apartment of the monarch.

His hands clasp a rosary of silver pearls which had always hung by the bedside. On the breast is a bouquet of violets and lilies of the valley, the favorite flowers of the dead ruler. In the center of the room a bare work table had been transformed into an altar before which the attending priests stand constant vigil, beginning a succession of masses at the approach of dawn.

The silver casket, which according to custom, had been in readiness for many years, will receive the mortal remains tomorrow.

It will be Monday before the solemn procession moves through Vienna, where, in court church (Hofburg chapel) the body will lie in state on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Then will follow a solemn high requiem mass and devotion and the procession to the Capuchin crypt, where the body will be interred.

An official statement says that before death, the emperor received absolution, extreme unction and the last communion.

The ceremonies attending the first public appearance of Emperor Charles Francis Joseph after ascending the throne were simple. They took place on Wednesday morning in the great hall of Schoenbrunn Palace, where were assembled the members of the house of Hapsburg and the leading officers of state of the dual monarchy. Formal announcement of the succession of Emperor Charles was made at that time. The official communication was handed to the young emperor by Baron von Burian, the Austrian foreign minister. The foreign minister asked Charles if he was ready to assume the imperial duties. In a single sentence Charles answered in the affirmative. He then received the homage of the imperial family, the household and the state dignitaries present.

Afterwards the assemblage adjourned to another apartment, where Charles' signature was affixed to the documents of state which attest his rulership.

FARMERS ORGANIZE TO AID MARKETING

Will Hold Conference in Chicago to Head Off Seven-Cent Bread Loaf

Canadian Grain Growers Will Co-operate With U. S. Association in Plans

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—To head off a bread loaf of seven cents, the National Council of Farmers and the Canadian Grain Growers Association will co-operate in plans for a conference in Chicago to head off a bread loaf of seven cents.

held in Chicago, December 7 and 8. The organization issuing the call is made up of farmers grain dealers associations of Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Ohio, Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, Nebraska, and Kansas, numbering over 2,000 farmer corporations and representing over 10,000 growers of small grains. Their meeting will be held under the auspices of the national conference on marketing and farm credit is to be held in Chicago at Hotel Sherman December 1-5. The Grain Co-operative Exchange, another farmers organization with a central selling agency at St. Paul, handling the grain products of 10,000 northwest farmers, has already accepted invitation to send a delegation.

Valuable aid will be given the farmers of the United States by a delegation from the Grain Growers Grain Company, Ltd., of Canada, which markets for over 7,000 farmers in the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. This company handles practically all of the Canadian wheat crop and during the last year purchased for export purposes over 50,000,000 bushels from these same farmers. The Canadian grain co-operative movement is the result of a long struggle against the grain elevator and the farmer's loss of control over his own grain. which were federated into states and finally came the formation of the National Council which operates to "band together the state associations. At the present time over one half of the grain of this country is marketed by farmers and in Illinois the amount is placed at 70 per cent. More than 2,000,000 American farmers will be represented at the fourth annual conference on Marketing and Farm Credits is now being organized from reservations made and programs from officers of farmers organizations. In addition to the grain growers' delegations the livestock interests, the whole milk producers for the large cities and the growers of orchard and garden products will be strongly represented on the program and in the delegations. The milk producers want a national body to band together the locals and work out market problems that will eliminate the costly milk strikes. The livestock men are bent on getting the moral support of the conference in their efforts to secure a probe of the livestock business from calf to plate by the federal trade commission. Delegates are expected from practically every state.

NORTHWESTERN IN COLUMBUS FOR CHAMPIONSHIP CONTEST. COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 24.—Northwestern arrived here today for its dash with Ohio State tomorrow, which will decide the championship of the Western conference. Ohio, with a record of having rolled up 119 points against Northwestern in the last three years, and not having its goal line crossed by the Evanston boys does not "the outcome."

Captain Brink and his players, however, are confident they will upset both precedent and the dope bucket. The battle promises to hinge on the ability of two of the greatest backs in the conference, Chick Harter, the Ohio sophomore and fleet half, and "Daddy" Driscoll, the Purple quarterback.

Church League is Re-organized; Six Teams are Entered

(By "Buck")
A meeting of the players of the Church league was held last evening at the Y. M. C. A. It was decided that six teams would constitute the league this season. Last year there were eight clubs, but only six of these volunteered to try it again this time. Those who will start are Grace, Central Church of Christ, Market Street Presbyterian, German Reformed, South Side church of Christ and the Christian churches.
Besides the formation of the league the principal thing that to place was the explanation of the rules by Coach Davis, physical director of the Y. M. C. A. Davis will act as the official referee.
At a meeting held a few weeks ago M. L. Cleveland was elected president, and F. E. McClain, vice president.
As the league passed through a most successful season last year and previous years it is expected to do as equally good this winter. The first games are scheduled to be played on Saturday. The games will be played on Saturdays.

Is Herrmann To Be Disposed Of

By FRANK G. MENKE.
NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—If you are a candidate for the job as chairman of the National Commission, now is the time to step out and recite your platform. If you delay, there may be so many candidates in the field that you'll be overlooked.
Everyone now agrees with us in our prediction of last January—that Garry Herrmann probably will be disposed. And pretty nearly every body has jumped into the field and is making noises like a prospective successor—or has launched a boom for a friend.
Kenesaw Mountain Landis, the Chicago judge who deliberated about one year on the baseball suit—and then failed to make a decision—has been pushed into the ranks of candidates. John Heydler, secretary of the National league, has been named. Ditto for Ed Barrow, proxy for the Internationals. A dozen others prominent in baseball are spoken of as possibilities, as are a hundred others who have as much chance to "land" as a dog catcher has to become Woodrow Wilson's successor in 1920.
Puzzle! What's McDonald's Job?
Billy McDonald, of New York, writes that he is very, very much disgusted with Billy Gibson because Gibson won't let Benny Leonard fight Irish Patsy Cline.
"Cline is the greatest lightweight in the country," adds McDonald, "and that's why Leonard won't give him a fight."
Alas, Poor Yorick!
"Germany Schaefer has become an actor," News Item.
Develop High-Steppers.
The coaching persons out in the University of Kansas decided that their halfbacks didn't step high enough. So they introduced a training stunt that is novel to an extreme degree. 15 inches deep and about 25 square, were placed about a stride apart. Each afternoon the halfbacks were sent down the lane of boxes on the run. The penalty for failure to high-step was to ram a shin against the box. After a few trials, collisions grew infrequent and now those Kansas athletes are ranked among the best leg lifters in the country.
No Changes in I. L.
"As far as I can determine now there will not be any change in the 1917 makeup of the International league," declared President Ed Barrows, silencing rumors.
"Some clubs lost money last season but the owners are willing to go ahead next year. The 1916 season wasn't an especially prosperous one for any of the minor leagues. We had much to contend with in readjusting conditions brought about by the war in 1914 and 1915. But everything looks rosy for next year."

Yale is Shooed Favorite

Yale is figured to win the Intercollegiate Trapshooting championship which will be fought for on Saturday, the 25th. It will take place in New Haven with teams competing from Yale, Harvard, Cornell, Princeton and Dartmouth. The meet will be the 25th intercollegiate shoot. Yale has won 12 first places and is the present champion.
And Football Is Called Sport.
The Lafayette coaches have been testy out the neck and head strength of their noble gladiators. They use a bucking machine with a hole in it about the size of a man's dome. The object is for the player to jam his cora into the hole while under full speed ahead. The penalty for missing is a bump against the hard leather facing of the machine—a noticeable bump, indeed, according to those whose aim was poor.

Threat of Strike is No Jest

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—That the strike of the Base Ball Players' Fraternity is no jest was further indicated by remarks made by Dave Fultz, president of the fraternity. The players' organization has accepted the deft of the powers of organized base ball and Fultz placed his cards upon the table. He made it plain that no player in the major league or class AA and A minors will sign 1917 contracts unless the National Association grants the recent requests made upon it by the fraternity.
"Organized base ball simply must grant these requests," said Fultz. "It is true that we have pledged from practically all of the men whose contracts expired last fall to sign their 1917 contracts until told to do so by the officers of the fraternity."
"The players are solid behind us on this stand."

Bowling New Plant for Yankees

FRENCH LICK, SPRINGS, Ind., Nov. 24.—Plans for the building of the New York Yankees of the greatest base ball plant in the country are complete. Jacob Ruppert announced here today. With Captain Husted and President Ban Johnson of the American league the plans were gone over in detail this week. All that is lacking is the necessary ground and an option on a suitable site already has been obtained.
The grand stand is to be double-decked and will hold 28,000. With pavilions and bleachers probably 50,000 spectators can be accommodated. The plant is to be ready by 1918.
Took a Neighbor's Advice.
"Last winter my son Claude had a severe attack of croup. I took a neighbor's advice and procured a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It relieved him promptly," writes Mrs. T. H. Bell, Vandercraft, Pa. Obtainable everywhere.

BROKE WORLD'S RECORDS.

ROBERT SIMPSON
Robert Simpson, the famous runner, has made application to the American Athletic union for recognition in having broken two world's records, according to the report of Fred J. Delaney, chairman of the A. A. U. record committee. Claims submitted by athletes for records on track, field and in the water will be submitted by the record committee to the convention of the A. A. U. in New York City shortly. Simpson asks that his name be inscribed on the honor roll for shattering the world's mark for the 120 high and 220 low hurdles.

First Game Called Off

Flashy New Suits Arrive For Squad

On account of delay of the material to put on the finishing touches of the new Cadet hall, the proposed game for next Tuesday evening has been postponed until the Wednesday following Thanksgiving. The work on the hall is completed with the exception of the beautifying part. However, the Cadets will not remain idle as the place is in condition to hold practice.
Pretty new suits arrived yesterday for the team, and are probably one of the showiest uniforms that could be purchased. A combination of maize and navy are the colors, with "Cadets" on the front and "Ellerman Clo. Co." on the back. The shirt has a "V" neck which makes a very neat appearance. The pants are navy trimmed in maize.
It is not positive who will open the season here with the Cadets, but it is most likely to be the Springfield Triangles. Little is known of this team, but it is the intention of the management to look only basketball players of the highest ability and be probably has been given a tip by someone.

Yale Trip Have Real Bad Colds

By Frank G. Menke, Sporting Editor of the L. N. S.
NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 24.—A time of sore throats may balk the bulldogs of Yale in their attempt tomorrow to roll back the crimson attack of Harvard and steamroll the invaders.
While the advance guard of the 77,454 crowd that will see the gridiron classic tomorrow began gathering here today, gloom settled over the Yale camp after it was learned that Moxley and Comerford, Yale's star ends, and Broden, the big fullback, were afflicted with cold touches of tonillitis.
Despite the promises of physicians that they would have the three men in the lineup tomorrow, the supporters of Yale found a bit of their earlier enthusiasm seeping out. And the big bunch of niggers that was ready to back Yale at seven money was withdrawn. The chances are now that the odds will be 10 to 1 in favor of Harvard.
"Camp Black, the black leader, has recovered from his heavy cold, and Smith, the quarterback, who was stricken with tonsillitis last week, surely will be in the pivot position when the whistle blows. Both Smith and Black are a trifle weak, and this may affect their playing tomorrow to a certain extent.
The weather man in this section juggled his instruments a half-dozen times today and the deleteriously declared that it looked very much like a young blizzard in prospect for tomorrow.
While the carpenters were completing their work of building 10,000 additional seats around the bowl today, the Yale squad ran through its final drill on a field made soggy by yesterday's rain. The Harvard crew had its first practice here yesterday afternoon and now is quartered in

They let you know you've been smoking—and yet they're MILD

In other words, Chesterfield Cigarettes are MILD—and yet they satisfy. This is something totally new to cigarettes. It goes further than pleasing your taste—satisfy does for your smoking what a juicy slice of hot roast beef does for your appetite. Chesterfields satisfy—they let you know you've been smoking.

But they're MILD, too—Chesterfields are!

If you want this new cigarette delight (satisfy, yet mild) you've got to get Chesterfields, because no cigarette maker can copy the Chesterfield blend. This blend is an entirely new combination of tobaccos and the biggest discovery in cigarette blending in 20 years.

Ban Plans on Retiring

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—Ban Johnson, president of the American

Minn. is to Meet Chi University

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—Minnesota's 1916 football eleven—by many experts called the best that ever stepped upon a Western gridiron—will meet the Chicago university team here tomorrow in what should prove the most interesting game played in the West.

league, is thinking of retiring in spite of the fact that his contract still has several years to run. This was learned today when it was announced that negotiations have virtually been completed whereby Johnson, Charles Comiskey of the White Sox and Joseph Ray, of Wilmington, Ill., will purchase a big ranch in Wyoming.
"You couldn't expect me to stick out that contract while I have such a good chance to settle out west," said Johnson. "I am in love with the country out there and its possibilities are great."

WORLD-FAMED MASTERPIECE
"The Red Cross Letter"

By Ella Gray Reed, the Noted English Artist.
NOW BEING SHOWN ON OUR SECOND FLOOR.

Not since Charles Hovenden painted "Breaking the Home Ties" has a more heart-touching, appealing bit of sentiment been placed upon canvas. The scene is laid in the home of an European workingman, and depicts one of the sorrows of war in that battle-crushed land. The homely surroundings make it most fetching. The young mother, left alone to wait and grieve with her little ones, render it most pathetic, were it for not the feature of the picture to depict grief and the lack of grief because of the real knowledge of death by the children.

With the Red Cross letter crushed in her hands (the empty envelope on the floor) this young widow of the present war shows her deep, unutterable anguish even with her head buried in her arms. One need not see her face to appreciate the acute grief, for the word "sorrow" is noticeable in every line of the figure. The old kitchen table, with the mixing bowl upon it; the plate of black bread and cheese; the picture on the wall; the old-fashioned cupboard; the crucifix and the candles; and then the sleeping baby in the cradle, all just as though you could walk in and around this humble home.

The child in the open door who knows no sorrow greater than a broken toy, gazing at the grief-stricken mother. What does she know of the battle and the death of her father and protector? She saw the glory of an army marching away, but she does not know that it is the last memory of her father, and that now he is dead and buried in the trench he helped to dig. She does not know he will never return again.

This picture is doing good work for peace.

The "The Red Cross Letter" was painted by Ella Gray Reed, born in Manchester, England, 1876. She lived in Toronto, Canada, for 18 years, returned to Europe to study art in Paris, and lives in Paris now. This great canvas, which will immortalize her, was painted in Bordeaux, France, from sketches made in Brussels, Belgium. It is 8 1/2 x 10 feet. It was brought to America in January, 1915.

This wonderful painting is valued at $60,000.00.

Some Vigorous Advances.United States Steel Common is Good Stock and Goes to Higher Record.

NEW YORK, Nov. 24.—There was an absence of offerings in the stock market at the opening today and a moderate demand was sufficient to cause substantial gains in nearly all issues. Some specialties were prominent and made vigorous advances. Gulf State Steel opened six points higher at 161½ and Atlantic Gulf and West Indies 2½ points higher at 126½. American Car and Foundry Lackawanna Steel and Republic Iron & Steel rose a point in the initial trading. There was a good demand for United States Steel common, which gained ½ to 124½. Utah Copper advanced 1½ to 121½. American Smelting, which sold ex-dividend of 1½ per cent sold at 117½, a gain of over a point. Central Leather rose 1½ to 114½. Read tubes 33½ to 122½. Readings advanced a point to 107½. Gulf State jumped to 170, a gain of 14 points in all and Atlantic Gulf and West Indies held its early gain. A number of other specialties also made violent upturns. The war order stocks also showed pronounced strength. Money loaning at 4 per cent.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG
Nobody Can Tell When You Darken Gray, Faded Hair With Sage Tea.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.
A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful. This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

BANKS HOLD BIG CHRISTMAS FUNDS

Thousands of Dollars Held For Call of Depositors in Xmas Saving Fund.

Two Lima Banks Originate Practice But Others Are Falling in Line Fast.

Many thousands of dollars, through the medium of Christmas Savings Clubs, have accumulated during the past year to the credit of Lima people and will pay things for Xmas stockings. Practically all of this money will be taken from the banks after December 15, to purchase Christmas cheer. A small part may find its way back to depositors. But most of it will reach the coffers of Lima merchants to pay for Christmas presents.

But two Lima banks have the Xmas club savings plan, the Lima Trust company and the Old National bank. The Lima Trust company started the idea in Lima and it proved popular at once. The First National bank, however, has a savings club which may be started at any time and does not depend upon the first of the year to make its initial deposits.

Each year the Trust company has secured many more members. When the Old National bank opened up their plan last year, it was in instant favor. However, many persons favor the plan of the First National bank above those of all others.

The deposits this year have been

OHIO MOTHERS FINDS THE IDEAL COLD TREATMENT

Nothing to Swallow—You Just Rub It Over Throat and Chest.

SOLDS GO OVER NIGHT CROUP IN 15 MINUTES

Mothers with small children know what a howl little tots make when they have to take nauseous medicines, but when croup and colds come something has to be done to relieve the "kiddies." Wise Ohio mothers have solved this problem with the use of the Southern "external" treatment—Vick's Vapo-Rub Salve. The preparation is absorbed through the skin, and, in addition, the body heat releases antiseptic vapors that are inhaled with each breath.

CINCINNATI, OHIO. Mrs. Fred M. Callahan, 1029 St. Gregory Street, writes:

"Vick's Vapo-Rub has done our children a world of good. When they had croup and heavy colds during the night, a good application of Vapo-Rub on the chest and back would give them immediate relief."

TROY, OHIO. Mrs. John Sharits, 747 W. Water Street.

"We have used Vick's Vapo-Rub Salve on our six children for the past three years, and it has always proven to be just as represented. I like it much better than I do medicines that have to be given internally."

100 Pianos Daily

This big Steger factory is located at Steger, Ill., and covers 30 acres of ground and has a capacity of 100 Pianos per day. In this big factory are made the celebrated Steger and Sons, Reed and Sons, Thompson and Singer Pianos and Player Pianos, which are sold exclusively in this territory by the Sparks Piano House. The Steger and Sons Co. owing to the tremendous output of their big factory, and their unequalled facilities for manufacturing, and the almost unlimited capital at their command are able to produce a Piano of quality at considerable less cost than the smaller factories whose output is comparatively small and financial resources limited. In view of these facts we feel justified in making the statement that we are able to give you more value for your money than you can possibly obtain elsewhere. However we do not want you to accept this statement without the proof. Come in and let us show you the evidence and then you judge from the unprejudiced standpoint of a true juror. We sell on weekly, monthly, quarterly, semi-annual and annual payments. In fact terms to suit your convenience.

GAY DECORATIONS PREDICT HOLIDAYS

Nation's Prosperous Condition Predicts Best Christmas Trade in Many Years

"Shop Early and Avoid the Rush" Slogan Adopted by Most Merchants of City.

Display windows in stores of the city are already taking a gay appearance as a result of the approach of the holiday season. Merchants predict that this will be one of the best seasons for many years in the amount of business transacted. This they claim is due to the busy industrial concerns and the fact that persons desiring to find work are accommodated.

The fact that business men are taking as their fundamental slogan, "Shop Early and Avoid the Rush," is another reason for getting ready for the big rush during the season of gift giving. In former years it was the custom to wait until the last minute before buying, but this practice is fast becoming a thing of the past as a result of the nation wide cry which has been adopted by Lima merchants. Since the merchants are favoring the plan of shopping early, it is imperative that they receive their holiday stocks in sufficient time to pro-

DREAM OF DEATH: STARTS HIS FLIGHT.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 24.—Fleeing from a proclamation of death Ernest Freeman, cattleman, formerly of Fort Smith, Ark., and recently from New Orleans, passed through about five years ago his younger brother in Arkansas, died of rabies, due to the bite of a Maltese cat. Last year his older brother was killed in a runaway. The horse, Freeman declares, was frightened by a rabbit.

Freeman himself, two years ago, was gored by a bull, and was compelled to have one leg amputated. Freeman lived in Louisiana until he dreamed of being attacked by a reptile in a swamp, and then he fled. "The superstition has worked into our blood in spite of our attempts to resist it," he explained. Not one of us can bear to have a pet cat in the house, and even dogs that bark at night make us nervous.
